

Oops and DoodlesTM

And other works of ART

Is it okay to doodle at school? Or to tell your teacher that it was definitely not the dog who ate your homework but a greedy, fat dragon with a hankering for math? Come write and draw in a classroom where mistakes lead to new places and where unbelievable stories are invited to lunch.

Creative Writing and Illustrating for 4th and 5th Graders

- When: Thursdays from 1:20-2:20 p.m.
- Dates: 1-30, 2-6, 2-13, 2-20, 2-27, 3-5, and 3-12
- Fee: $139/child; plus $20 materials fee
- Location: Moffett Elementary, BFF Room
- Online registration beginning Friday, January 17 at www.printsmarin.com. Registration information is located on the Oops and Doodles page.
- Class size is limited to 10, so please register early.

Fine print for parents: In this interactive series, children will develop their unique creative voices while exploring illustration through live demonstration and hands-on experience. Each week we will let our imaginations run barefoot through the tall grass – way-up-to-our-noses grass – where we can't see what's next or who's lurking. We will play games, fall in love with unlikely characters, and test the boundaries of our imaginations, all while celebrating the joy and awe that are words and pictures. Please let me know if you have questions.

printsmarin@hotmail.com

printsmarin.com

All my best,
Rachel Somoano,
a.k.a. P. Marin
Author/Illustrator
(714) 716-9990

RL